

Salvatore Leone

salfleone22@gmail.com

914-268-7651

137 Chittenden Avenue
Yonkers, NY 10707

Detail-oriented Information Systems student with knowledge of network administration, project management, relational databases, object-oriented programming, and multimedia. Collaborative worker eager to gain experience and learn new skills. Confident in adjusting to and using new technology. Concise communicator to both clients and peers. Highly organized.

Employment:

Independent Computer and Hardware Technician

Yonkers, NY

January 2021 – Present

- Assemble, repair, clean, and optimize computer systems for home use, Assembled small form factor systems
- Assembled passively cooled system
- Recommend client's component choice based on primary uses and affordable price
- Recommend display tailored to client's system
- Repair peripherals with dysfunctions or broken components

Skills:

Networking Administration
Object Oriented Programming
Database Design and Practice

Computer Configuration and Assembly
Java and C#
SQL in MS Access

Relevant Coursework:

Computer Networks – complete rundown of networking and the Internet from the top down
Introduction to Network Administration - application of networking practices learned in computer networks in networking lab

Database Design and Practice – use MS Access and SQL to learn the design and development of relational databases and queries

Data Structures – learned the most common data structures and how to implement them

Education:

Stony Brook University

Stony Brook, NY

Graduated: May 2023

Fordham Preparatory School

The Bronx, NY

Graduated: May 2019